Voter Registration Information

You must update your registration if:

- Move or change Post Office box
- Name change
- Political Party affiliation change
- Your signature changes

Once you are registered you do not need to provide citizenship documentation to update your registration; it is only necessary the first time you register in a county. If you move within the county, just re-register. If you move to another county you need to provide the documentation again.

Why do I have to register where I live?

Elected officials represent voters living in their district. For example, if you live in Yuma but are registered in Sells you are legally not eligible to vote back in Sells. You would need to register in Yuma and vote there locally. {My understanding is that this is a major difference between tribal elections and county/state/federal elections. Voters need to register where they live rather than where they are from.}

I don't have a street address, what do I do?

The voter registration form has an area on the lower, right side to draw a map of where you live. In the address field enter in the community where you live (Salt River, White Mountain, etc.) Provide as much information as you can so that you can be placed in the correct precinct (outside of White Cone, off of 9001, 3 miles past 9061 junction)
Do I have to register to a political party? What if I don't?
Currently, the three recognized parties in Arizona are the Democrat, Republican, and the Libertarian Parties.

Check with your county for any other locally recognized parties. You do not have to select a party preference. If you fail to do so, or select a party other than one of the recognized parties, in the Primary Election, you can choose which party's ballot you want to vote.

In order to vote in the Presidential Preference Election in 2008, you will have to be registered to a political party having an election. Unlike in our Primary, you will not be able to declare a party at the polls on Election Day for the preference election.

When can I register?

The registration deadline is 29 days before each election. You may register at anytime, but if it is after the 29th day, you are not eligible to vote in that election.

Where do I go to register?

- Local County Recorder/Elections office
- Department of Motor Vehicles
- Post office
- Service Arizona (www.servicearizona.com)
- Call your local Elections office and they can mail you a form
- Tribal Offices

Why should I register?

Who are you voting for if you don't vote? Elected officials determine policy and funding for schools, parks, law enforcement, military, social services, and roads. You will have the ability to sign nomination and initiative petitions (i.e. gaming issue) which determines what is on the ballot. You have the ability to elect local representation. If you don't vote, not only are you not voting FOR anyone, you're also not voting AGAINST a candidate you may not like.

When are the elections?

February 5, 2008	Presidential Preference Election (Democratic and Republican Parties)
March 11, 2008	Jurisdictional Elections (City/Town, schools, etc)
May 20, 2008	Jurisdictional Elections (City/Town, schools, etc)
September 2, 2008	Primary Election
November 4, 2008	Presidential General Election
