COUNTY RECORDER UNVEILING ANOTHER RECORDING KIOSK AT WHITE TANKS LIBRARY

March 14, 2013 – Phoenix, AZ....On Wednesday, March 20, 2013 at 10:00am, Maricopa County Recorder Helen Purcell will unveil another recording KIOSK. The ribbon-cutting ceremony will take place at the White Tank Branch Library, 20304 West White Tank Mountain Road in Waddell, Arizona.

“We are delighted to be the first in the United States to offer the public an option to same-day recording of a document via an interactive KIOSK,” said Ms. Purcell. “It has the capability of housing a computer terminal with touch screen ability, document scanning and printing, audio, video and credit card reader; and it will permit the public to record their document(s) via a KIOSK while still in direct communication with one of our employees. It is an immense convenience, aids the environment and will add to the overall efficiency of the Maricopa County Recorder’s Office.”

The inaugural unveiling of the initial KIOSK was held on March 23, 2010 at the Maricopa County Recorder’s Office. At that time Purcell announced it was the intent of her office to have regional recording KIOSKs throughout Maricopa County with the assistance of the Maricopa County Library District. On Wednesday that goal will be accomplished with the two departments collaborating on the presentation of the recording KIOSK at the library.

Maricopa County Supervisors Max Wilson and Andy Kunasek and Maricopa County Library District Director Cindy Kolaczynski will be on hand along with other invited officials and guests. “We are delighted that the Library District is availing its facility as an extension of our office and we invite the public to attend this unveiling and encourage them to bring documents for recording,” said Purcell. An actual demonstration will take place followed by questions and answers.

Media is especially invited to attend this unveiling of the recording KIOSK.
