County Recorder Adrian Fontes names new Deputy Recorder Deputy to replace Chief of Staff after last week's resignation

County Recorder Adrian Fontes named Matt Morales Deputy Recorder this week after his Chief of Staff resigned last week.

Morales previously served as Director of Intergovernmental Relations. He will report directly to Keely Varvel, Chief Deputy Recorder.

"After working with Matt since I took office, I trust him to help run this office efficiently and effectively," Fontes said. "His experiences in public, private and nonprofit sectors give me confidence that he will excel in this new role."

Morales will continue to manage intergovernmental relations. He will now oversee IT, Communications, Community Relations, Human Resources, Federal Compliance and Budgeting.

Morales is a fifth-generation Arizona who graduated from Arizona State University with a major in Political Science and International Relations. He earned his MBA at the University of Phoenix.

Morales and his wife Mindy, have two sons - Maximilian and Miles.

Morales and Fontes are available for interviews today.
