MARICOPA COUNTY RECORDER UNVEILING ANOTHER RECORDING KIOSK IN SURPRISE

January 14, 2011 – Phoenix, AZ...On Wednesday, January 19, 2011 at 10:00am, the Maricopa County Recorder, Helen Purcell, will unveil another recording KIOSK. The ribbon-cutting ceremony will take place at the Northwest Regional Library 16089 North Bullard Avenue in Surprise, Arizona.

“We are delighted to be the first in the United States to offer the public an option to same-day recording a document via an interactive KIOSK,” said Ms. Purcell. “It has the capability of housing a computer terminal with touch screen ability, document scanning and printing, audio, video and credit card reader; and it will permit the public to record their document via a KIOSK while still in direct communication with one of our employees. It is an immense convenience, aids the environment and will add to the overall efficiency of the Maricopa County Recorder’s Office.”

The inaugural unveiling of the initial KIOSK was held on March 23, 2010 at the Maricopa County Recorder’s Office. At that time Purcell announced it was the intent of her office to have regional recording KIOSKs throughout Maricopa County. On Wednesday that goal will be accomplished with the two departments collaborating on the unfolding of the recording KIOSK at the library.

Maricopa County Supervisor Max Wilson and Maricopa County Library District Director Harry Courtright will be on hand along with other invited officials and guests. “We are delighted that the Library District is availing its facility as an extension of our office and we invite the public to attend this unveiling and encourage them to bring documents for recording,” said Purcell. An actual demonstration will take place followed by questions and answers.

Media is especially invited to attend this second unveiling of the recording KIOSK.
