MARICOPA COUNTY RECORDER UNVEILING ANOTHER RECORDING KIOSK IN FTN HILLS

July 20, 2011 – Phoenix, AZ....As promised Maricopa County Recorder Helen Purcell has placed another recording KIOSK in the town of Fountain Hills. On Thursday, August 4 a second ribbon-cutting ceremony will take place at 10:00a.m. at the Fountain Hills Library, 12901 North La. Montana Drive, Fountain Hills.

“Our office staff is excited knowing we are the first recorder’s office in the United States to make available to the public an option of same-day document recording via an interactive KIOSK,” said Ms. Purcell. “This will be the second recording KIOSK off-site, the first was placed at the Northwest Regional Library in the city of Surprise. The KIOSK has the capability of housing a computer terminal with touch screen ability, document scanning and printing, audio, video and credit card reader; and it will permit the public to record their document via a KIOSK while still in direct communication with one of our employees. It is an immense convenience, aids the environment and will add to the overall efficiency of the Maricopa County Recorder’s Office.”

The inaugural unveiling of the initial KIOSK was held on March 23, 2010 at the Maricopa County Recorder’s Office. At that time Purcell announced it was the intent of her office to have regional recording KIOSKs throughout Maricopa County. With the cooperation of the Maricopa County Library District this has come to fruition.

Maricopa County Supervisor Don Stapley and Maricopa County Library District Director Harry Courtright will be on hand along with other invited officials and guests. “We are delighted that the Library District is availing its facility as an extension of our office and we invite the public to attend this unveiling and encourage them to bring documents for recording,” said Purcell. An actual demonstration will take place followed by questions and answers.

Media is especially invited to attend this unveiling of the recording KIOSK.
